Collagen O2 TIME GOES ON -GOES ON -COLLAGEN O2 -INNOVATIVE SERIES FOR REPLENISHING PROTEIN OF YOUTH

Collagen is a fibrillar protein that forms the basis of connective tissue tissues of our body, ensures its strength and elasticity.

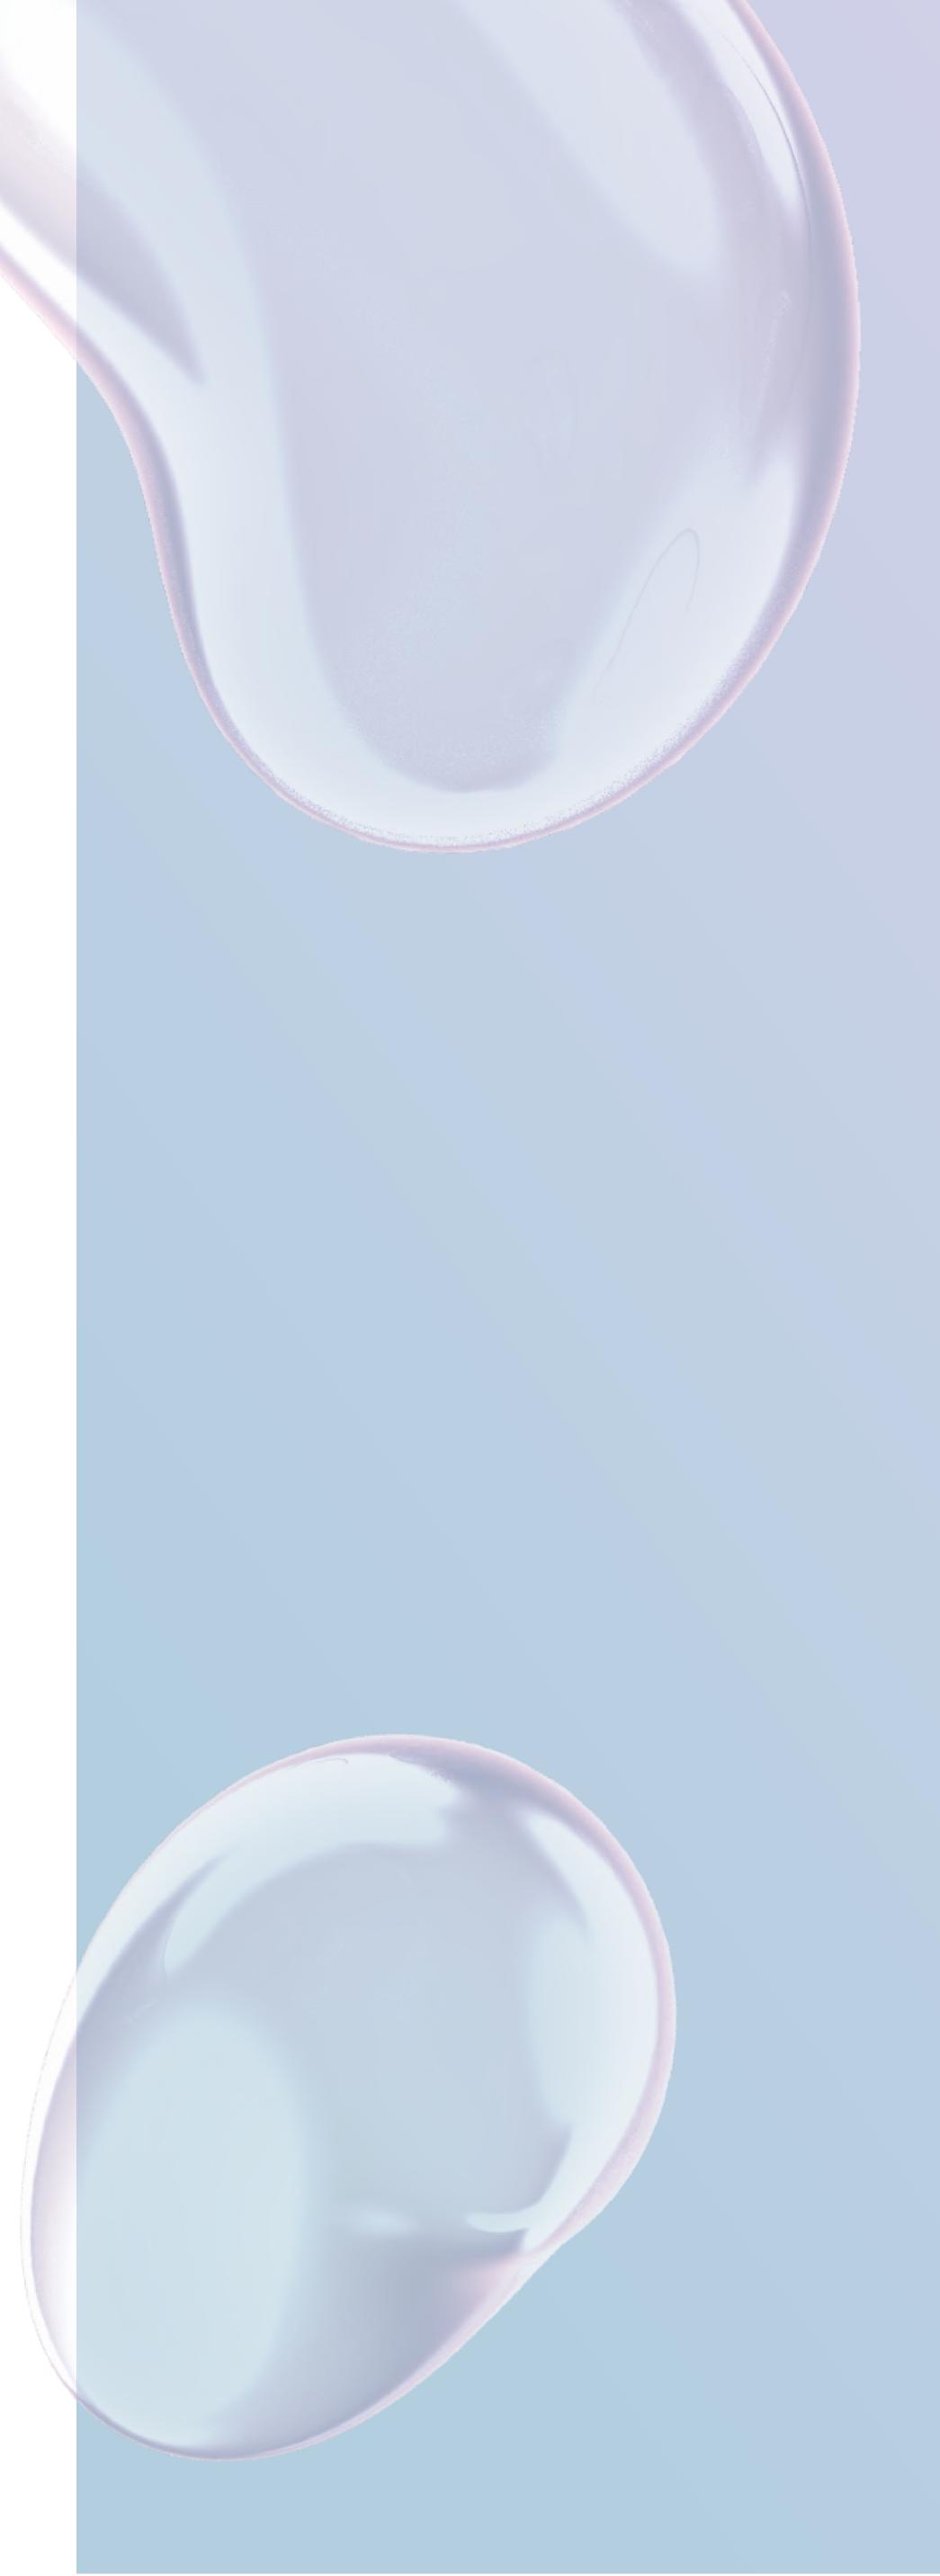

The word collagen comes from the Greek kolla, meaning glue.

Collagen molecules form thin fibril fibers that hold cells together and literally "glue" the human body together, giving it strength and shape.

Without collagen, we wouldn't even be able to stand!

WHY IS IT SO IMPORTANT TO MAINTAIN LEVEL OF COLLAGEN?

Biologists identify 28 types of collagen, which perform various functions, make up 1/3 of all proteins in your body and 70% of proteins in the structure of your skin. Collagen ensures stable functioning of key systems in our body:

- Forms walls of veins, arteries and capillaries
- Supports strength of joints, bones, tendons, hair, nails and teeth
- Forms skin framework, gives it elasticity and firmness, and clarity to oval of your face

DO YOU WANT TO STAY YOUNG AND HEALTHY LONGER? YOU NEED COLLAGEN!

COLLAGEN IS PROTEIN OF YOUTH

It is its quantity and quality that determines how elastic and dense your skin will be. The following types of collagen are most important for your skin:

- Type I fibers consist of fibrils and are responsible for strength of skin, creating reliable frame
- Type III fibers support and fill skin frame from the inside
- Type IV connects layers of skin dermis and epidermis

Starting at age 25, collagen levels in your skin decrease for 1% every year.

Old collagen fibers break down faster than new ones are formed. The collagen framework of skin changes: its structure becomes less ordered, and fibers in the composition lose their elasticity. The process can also be accelerated by external factors for example, damaging effects of ultraviolet radiation.

signs of aging appear and progress:

LOSS OF ELASTICITY AND TIGHTNESS

To regain skin elasticity and make the facial oval more defined, you need to replenish collagen stores. But how can you do this if the collagen molecule is too large and unable to penetrate the deep layers of the skin?

WHY DOES SKIN LOSE ELASTICITY?

The collagen framework of skin loses strength over the years,

Kilodalton (kDa) is a unit of measurement for the mass of molecules.

Collagen nanomolecule Hexapeptide- (0,67 kDa*) penetrates dermis and acts on fibroblasts and stimulates synthesis of own collagen I, III and IV types, replenishing its deficiency in the deep layers of skin. Strengthens junction of epidermis and dermis, ensures skin remodeling.

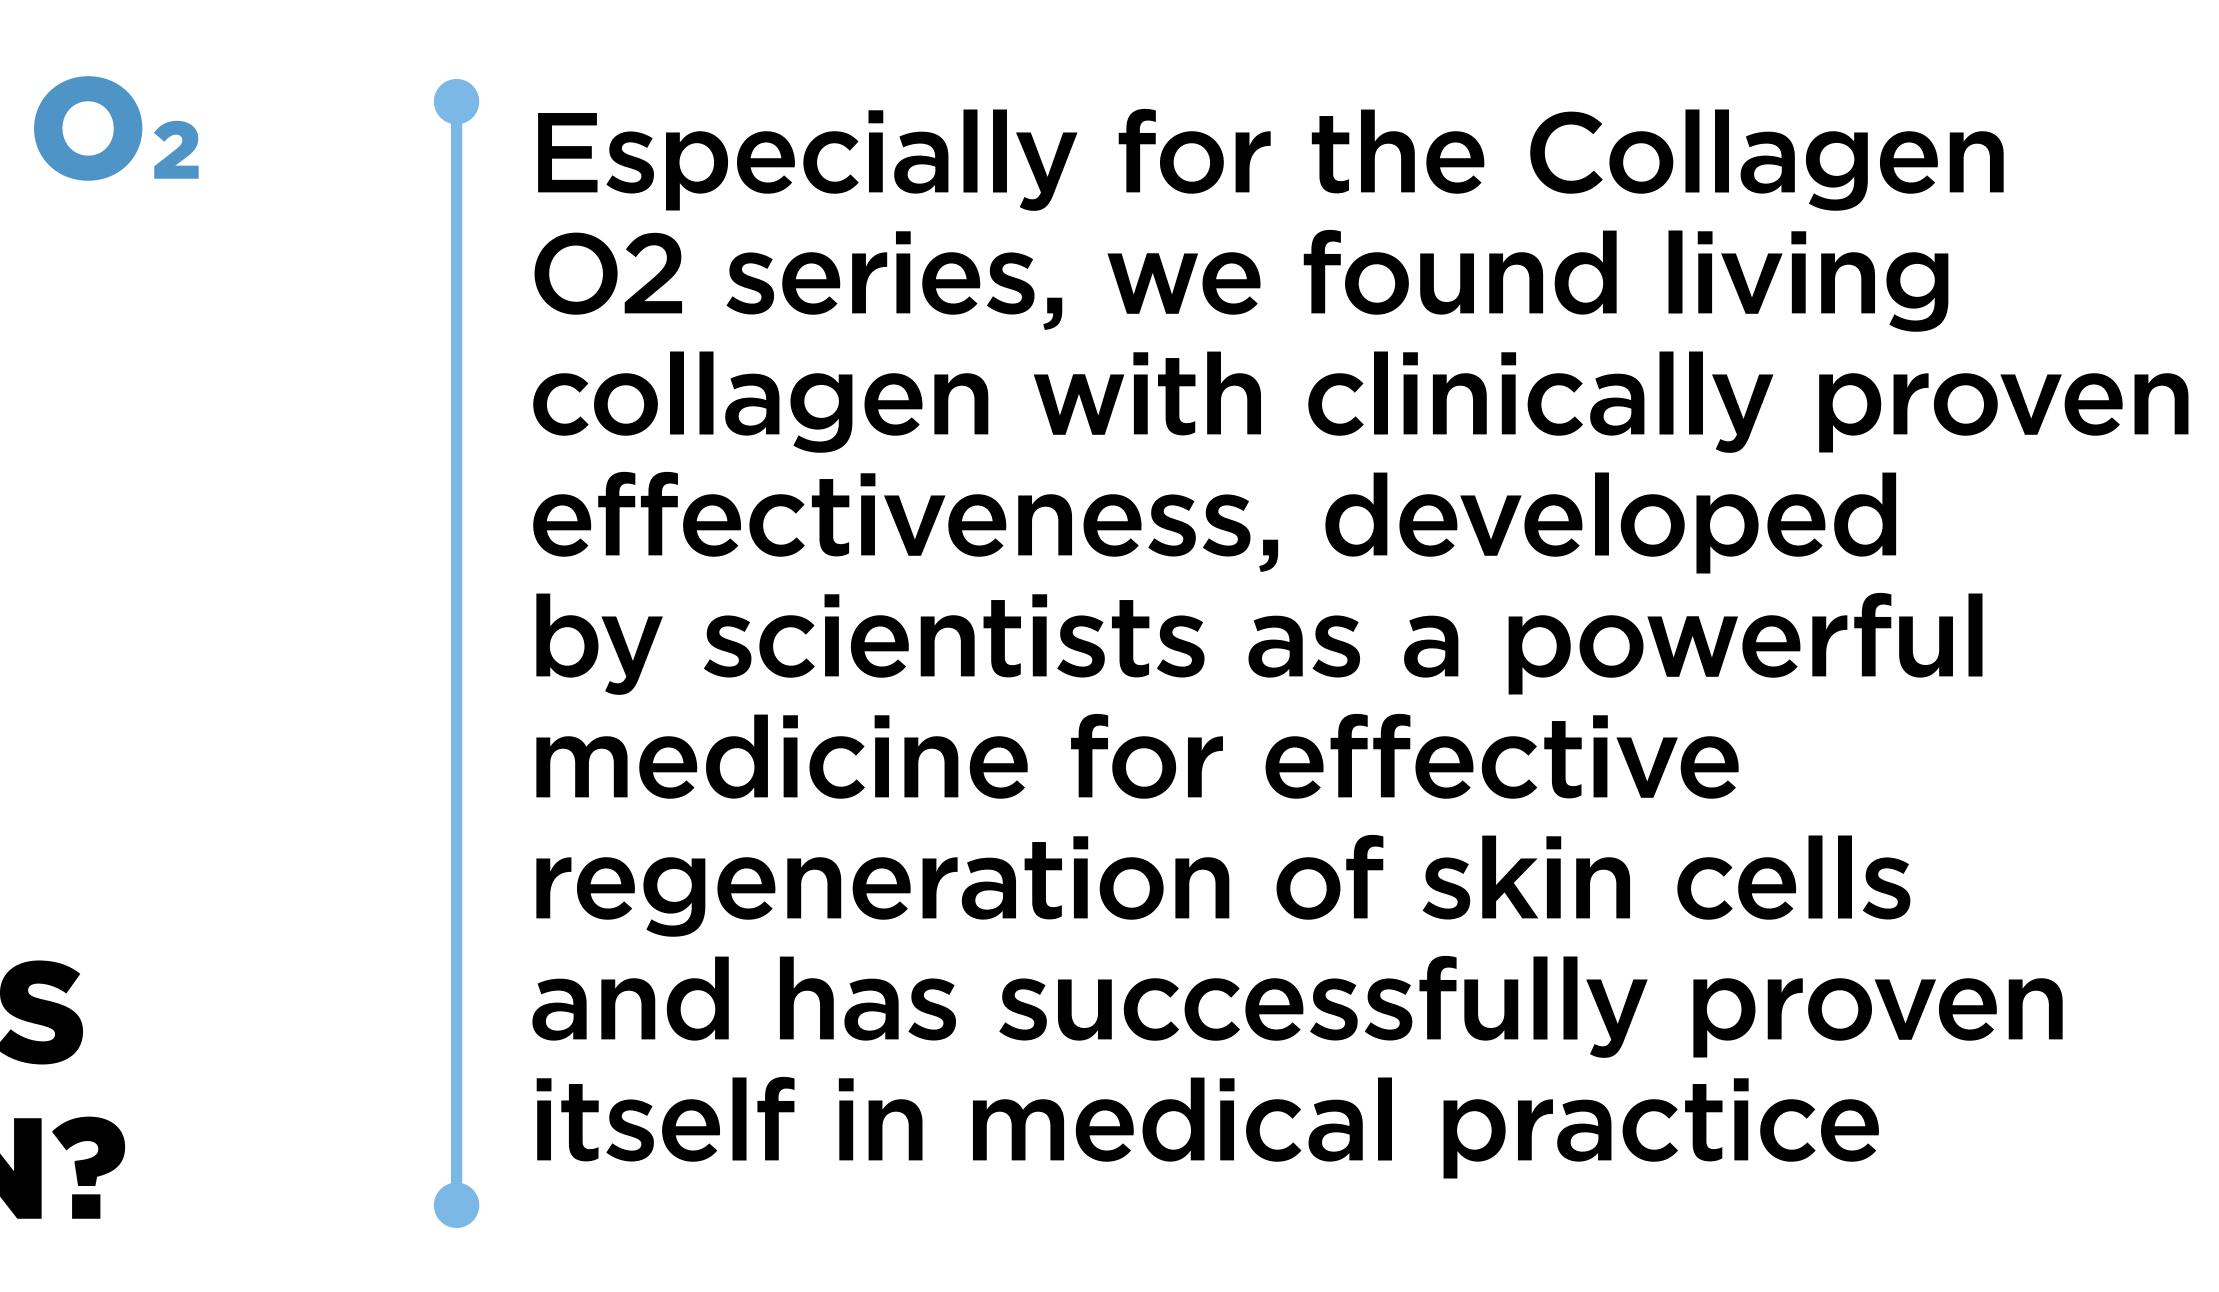

COLLAGEN 02 PRODUCTS CONTAIN COLLAGEN

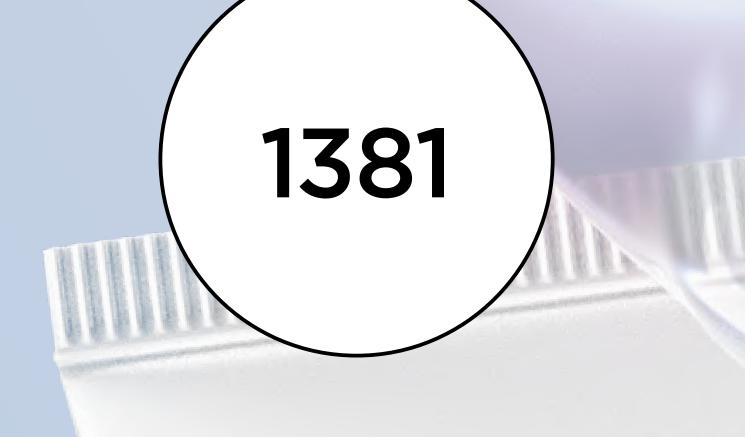

WHAT DOES THAT MEAN?

Many manufacturers dry collagen to powder, which destroys its natural molecular structure and reduces beneficial features

Thanks to the gentle method of production, this collagen retains its original structure and all its beneficial properties, which is why it is called "live" or native
